NEW POPE TO BE NAMED BY CONCLAVE OF CARDINALS

Gasparri Is Favored As Successor Despite Previous Office

Bells Of 400 Churches Announce Passing Of The Pontiff

(Reuter's Service)

Rome, Jan. 22.—Immediately after the Pope's death, Cardinal Gasparri, the Papal Secretary of State, took charge of affairs in the capacity of Cardinal Camerlengo, who carries on affairs on the demise of the Pope.

All were requested to leave the death chamber, which guards occupied and seals were placed on the doors of the Pope's library and writing room. Cardinal Gasparri also officially informed the foreign Governments and telephoned to the Quirinal. The Premier, Signor Bonomi, immediately instructed the government offices to hoist their flags at half-mast, this being the first time in history that such an order was given.

The death of His Holiness was announced to the public early this morning by the solemn pealing of the bells of Rome's four hundred churches. The streets were full of people discussing the news, and special editions of the newspapers were published, containing portraits and memoirs, especially paying tribute to the late Pope's work during the War.

Preparations immediately began for the ancient and historic ceremonies connected with the death of a Pope, one of the first of which is an assembly of Cardinals to call the dead Pontiff by name, on receiving no answer a Cardinal removes the fisherman's ring, the symbol of the Papal authority, which is then broken by the Cardinal Camerlengo and remade for the next Pope. After this comes the elaborate and historical ritual of preparing the dead Pope for the lying in State at St. Peter's prior to burial.

Many favor the election of Cardinal Gasparri as Pope although the election of the secretary of State of a preceding Pope is an almost unheard-of event.

OTHERS MENTIONED

(Special To The China Press)

Rome, Jan. 22.—Besides Cardinal Gasparri, others mentioned as possible successors to the late Pope Benedict XV are Cardinal Dellai, secretary of the consistorial congregation, whose election would gratify the desires of the more intensely religious element in the sacred college who desire a church head who would not play so prominent a part in world politics as Benedict or Leo XIII; Cardinal Merry del Val, who has long held a prominent position in the church, and Cardinal Maffi, well-known as an astronomer and archbishop of Piza. In choosing the successor to the papacy, the Cardinals remain locked in the Vatican, casting two ballots daily until the new Pope is chosen.

DIES AT SIX O'CLOCK

(Reuter's Service)

Rome, Jan. 22.—The Pope died at six o'clock this morning.

The final collapse occurred at three o'clock this morning, when His Holiness experienced great distress, his extremities becoming numbed and his strength quickly oxing.

The agony started at 5.20, just when Cardinal Vico arrived at the Vatican to celebrate mass in the chapel adjoining the sickroom. After mass, Cardinal Giorgi administered the absolution, after which the Pope expired, at six o'clock precisely. Those present at the end included Cardinals Gasparri, Vico, Giorgi and Gantini and Count Persico, the Pope's nephew.

SACRED COLLEGE MEETS

Rome, Jan. 22.—The body of the Pope has been laid-out, dressed in a white cassock, with his hands resting on his chest with Rosary beads intertwined between the fingers. The remains have been transferred to the Throne Room, where they will lie in state.

The first meeting of the Sacred College, at which all the Cardinals at present in Rome attended, was held this morning in connection with the burial on his Holiness, and the preparation of a conclave

Husband She Thought Dead Gets Divorce

Cameron D. McClelland's application in Supreme Court for a permanent decree of divorce revealed that his wife had married George T. Graham of Oshkosh, Wisconsin, after she had received a report that McClelland had ended his own life. The wife was McClelland's chief witness. She believed her husband had killed himself, and so she married again, to be confronted with divorce proceedings when Husband No. 1 turned out to be very much alive. A fifteen-months-old baby is the tragic victim of the affair.

LIANG TO GO OR CRISIS IN CABINET MAY CAUSE SPLIT

Three Ministers Add To Pressure Brought By Wu Pei-fu

ASKS FOR LEAVE

Premier To Yield Post In Face Of Nation-wide Opposition

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, Jan. 23.—Premier Liang Shih-yi has decided to apply for a week's leave to-morrow.

(Staff Wire to the CHINA PRESS)

Peking, Jan. 23.—A rumor came from the presidential offices last night that the president, in view of Gen. Wu Pei-fu's last ultimatum, had decided to accept Premier Liang Shih-yi's resignation, and that he would ask Foreign Minister Yen to act in his stead. So far this report has not been confirmed.

It is reported that the ministers of War, Navy and the Interior are considering the withdrawal of Premier Liang Shih-yi as the only means of avoiding a crisis, and that, not desiring to be involved in a possible result of the government's defiance of Gen. Wu Pei-fu's ultimatum, they have requested the president either to let Liang go or accept their resignations.

A mandate granting Liang a leave of absence, and requesting the other ministers to carry on may be issued tonight or to-morrow. On the other hand the premier is exhibiting a spirit of bravado by issuing invitations for an official dinner party for February 10.

Hankow, Jan. 21.—Mr. Ma, secretary to Marshal Tsao Kun arrived here last night and called on General Hsiao Yao-nan, Tuchun of Hupeh, who, it is reported, he told.

"Inasmuch as Premier Liang has already approved of Marshal Tsao Kun's four items of conciliatory proposals, it would be advisable for General Hsiao not to direct further attack against Premier Liang but to let the present Cabinet relieve the finance of the Chinese Government.

"As regards ill-feelings on the part of General Wu Pei-fu towards the Liang Cabinet, there being measures to pacify them, you (Tuchun Hsiao) are requested to advise General Wu to stop all attack upon the Premier, otherwise there is fear of some politi-

YUI BLAMES KOO AND SZE, CONFERENCE DELEGATES

Lacked Leadership And Directness, He Contends

WEALE SPEAKER

Publicist Urges Establishment Of Real Government

Under the auspices of the Pan-Pacific Association two addresses were delivered yesterday by Messrs. David Z. T. Yui and Lennox Simpson (Putnam Weale) before a large gathering at the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce. Mr. C. C. Nieh, Chairman of the Chamber, presided.

Dr. Yui, the first speaker, referred to the misinterpretation of the motives of the Washington Conference on the part of the Chinese people who generally believed that the conference was convened as a medium for the express adjustment of China's diplomatic problems, whereas its objects as implied in its official designation, "The Disarmament, Pacific, and Far Eastern Questions Conference," had no direct reference to China.

He attributed the submissive attitude of the delegates to the fact that they were hampered by the consciousness of their position as ministers abroad, Dr. Wellington Koo being accredited to Great Britain and Dr. Alfred Sze to the United States. He deplored their failure to follow the example of directness so ably put before them by Secretary of State Hughes, who opened the conference by presenting at once to the amazement of all the other delegations, the concrete features of the program for naval disarmament as adjudged fair by the United States.

BLAME DELEGATES

Dr. Yui said: "If at the beginning of the conference, when the world was anxious to know what was to be the answer to the question uppermost in their minds, 'What does China want?' the Chinese delegates had placed before the Conference in full open session the three most essential issues of which the injustice suffered by China was manifest to all impartial minds, the Twenty-one Demands, the Shantung question, and the Customs tariff autonomy, China would have had the vigorous moral support of the United States and the other nations.

"The ambiguous character of the Ten Points based on abstract principles has been a disappointment to the well-meaning American friends of China in their eagerness to know what China expected the conference to do for her."

Dr. Yui also explained that there is a talk of applying the Monroe Doctrine to Mongolia but he had sought in vain for a clear definition of its meaning by American diplomats who were supposed to know the basic ideas of their recommendation. He feared that misinterpretations of this phase of the Mongolian question would give rise to serious international indifferences. He was deeply impressed, he said, by the atmosphere of cordial goodwill among the American people in their eagerness to be of service to China.

He pointed to the question of redeeming the Shantung Railway with $30,000,000 to be raised from the people as an acid test of their practical partiotism.

WEALE'S OPINION

Mr. Simpson Lennox expressed his regret over the lack of leadership among the three Chinese delegates as each one of the three was the equal of the other two and acted accordingly. He held out hope for China in that the naval treaty will not be ratified unless the American senate could assure itself that China was given a fair deal. He urged upon his audience the burning question of the revival of parliamentary rule in China because the fact that China being a republic and being nevertheless ruled without a body of men who represent the people and interpret their wishes as the basic factor for shaping the administrative policies of the country, is apt to arouse misgivings on the part of the foreign peoples as to the feasibility of representative government in China.

He cited the Irish question as an example of the possibility of a satisfactory settlement being arrived at between North and South

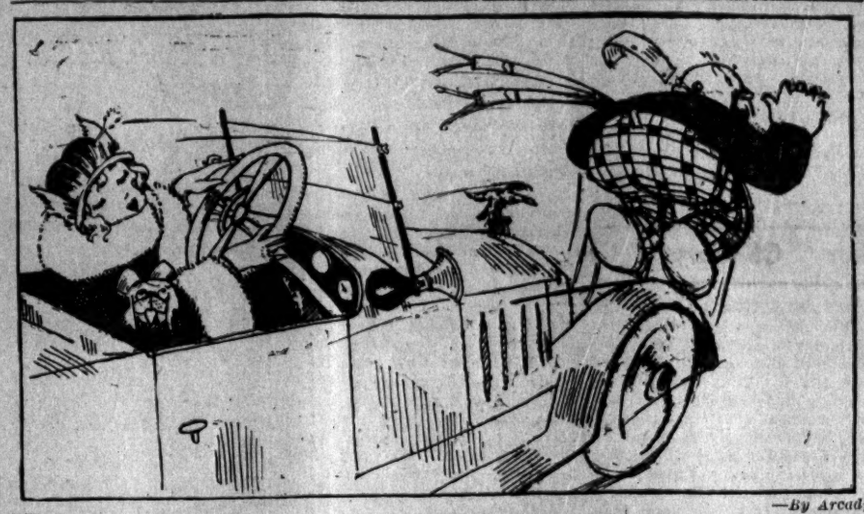
Dangers Of The Dah Ma Loo - - No. 7



—By Arcady.

The manipulators of the motored Molochs in this town certainly have a reckless disregard for life—if it is a life other than their own, Arcady, the new staff artist of THE CHINA PRESS, has caught the spirit of the average Shanghai motorist just where the motorist he depicts has caught her victim, viz, amidships. If you doubt this, just stand on the Dah Mah Loo any hour, any day, and chances are you will hear an unfortunate — and flattened—pedestrain or ricksha customer yelling into the gasoline tank and rear fenders of a rapidly disappearing motor car: "Hey! You must think you own these streets!" That isn't all the victims yell, but that's all that's printable.

Ship Strike At Hongkong Is No Nearer Settlement

Latest advices from Hongkong carry the indication that the strike of seamen there will not be adjusted until after the Chinese New Year. It is stated that while the workers are holding firm to the demands they have made for increased wages the companies have withdrawn the offer of concessions that they made several days ago.

It is known that active measures have been taken in Shanghai to recruit strike breakers, a number of which have been sent to the Southern port, but rumors of labor trouble in Shanghai in sympathy with the Hongkong strike more or less have been set at rest.

According to further advices to the Shanghai office of the Pacific Mail the steamer Hoosier State, as previously announced, will sail from Shanghai almost on schedule, as it has been manned by a crew of Filipinos. The Hoosier State is due here on Friday and is to sail the same day for San Francisco by way of Japanese ports and Honolulu.

Coastal service in general is paralysed by the strike at Hongkong. The last of the Jardine-Matheson Indo-China boats, plying regularly between Hongkong and Shanghai, was the Kwongsang which was despatched on last Friday for Swatow, there to await instructions. The Jardine-Matheson boats now tied up at Hongkong are the Choysang, Hopsang, Waishing and Haishing.

The two passenger liners held at Hongkong by the strike, the Monteagle of the C. P. O. S. and the China of the China Mail, still are being detained and no dates for their departure are being announced. The Empress of Russia of the C. P. O. S. arrives in Hongkong tomorrow, but as it goes into drydock for its annual overhaul little concern is felt about her future sailing. The vessel is scheduled to sail for Vancouver on February 28. The Empress of Japan of the same line, which also has been in drydock at Hongkong is scheduled to sail from there on February 8.

The Butterfield & Swire steamer Sunning arrived in Shanghai yesterday from Hongkong manned, however, by a Northern crew.

Following the Pacific Mail liner Hoosier State, the Admiral Line steamer Wenatchee, which also is in Southern waters is not to be delayed by the labor trouble at Hongkong, as it is manned by an all-American crew. The Wenatchee is due to sail from this port on January 29.

Official notice has been issued by the Shanghai American Consulate that clearance vessels destined to ports in bills will not be issued to the United States unless evidence is given that all members of crews and passengers on such vessels have been vaccinated.

The measure is being taken by reason of the recent epidemic of small pox in Shanghai and it should be explained that evidence of recent vaccination should be documentary in form, such as the certificate of a physician.

QUEZON LOSES HOLD ON SENATE

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Manila, Jan. 10.—Manuel L. Quezon, president of the Philippine Senate, has resigned his office as head of that body following a controversy over the question of leadership. Only five senators supported him in the final vote.

Mr. Quezon's action was taken after a long debate with Speaker of the House, Mr. Osmena. The former favored a collective leadership of the Nacionalista party while the latter opposed it.

There have been many reports of an impending split in the Nacionalista party. Mr. Quezon's resignation is taken to mean that the possibility of this has been increased. He will retain his seat in the Senate.

VISCOUNT BRYCE IS DEAD, FULL OF YEARS AND HONOR

(Reuter's Service)

London, Jan. 23.—The death is announced of Viscount Bryce at the age of 83 years. The deceased was Chief Secretary for Ireland from 1905 to 1907 and Ambassador to the United States from 1907 to 1913.

James Bryce, first Viscount of Dechmont, Lanarks, was born on May 10, 1838, at Glasgow. He attended high school in his native city, and subsequently was a scholar at the University of Glasgow, Oxford and Heidelberg. After completing his collegiate work he began the practice of law, which he continued until 1882, in which year he became Regius Professor of civil law at Oxford. He was elected to Parliament from Tower Hamlets, and subsequently was Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, with a seat in the cabinet, President of the London Board of Trade, Chief Secretary for Ireland, and Ambassador to Washington.

Viscount Bryce wrote numerous books and essays on legal, political and quasi scientific subjects, including what is generally regarded, in America at any rate, as the best of numerous interpretations of the American system of government, namely, "The American Commonwealth." This book is used as a text book of history and political science in all American high schools and colleges, and is more frequently quoted in American parliamentary bodies than any other.

Viscount Bryce was an ardent angler and mountain climber, and was president of the Alpine Society in 1899-1901. He was a member of numerous scientific societies and held honorary degrees from many of the leading universities of the world.

POWERS URGED TO COME OUT IN OPEN ON THEIR CONCESSIONS IN CHINA

Japan Balks At Promising To Turn Up Deals Put Through By Private Companies And Is Given Loop-hole—New Commitments Must Be Published In 60 Days Is Text Of Resolution

SECRECY SIGN OF SOMETHING WRONG

Future Disputes To Be Averted By Knowledge Of Present Status, Says America In Urging Passage Of Resolution To Clear China Agreements

(Trans-Pacific Public Ledger— Exclusive To The China Press)

Washington, Jan. 22.—The resolution for the publication of commitments of the powers in China contains the provision that China is bound to notify all the powers of all agreements entered into by her with any one of them. The powers, on their part, beside publishing their commitments already enacted, agree to publish all future agreements with China sixty days after their conclusion.

The official spokesman of the Chinese delegation says that the Chinese would make certain suggestions regarding this resolution to the end that public examination shall be made of the validity of former agreements and bring about reconciliation between any conflicting commitments as well.

The principle of publicity has been discussed but a decision has not been reached. The Japanese are objecting somewhat to the publication of agreements of private companies with China on the grounds that it is difficult to know of all of these.

America's position is that this principle of publicity will avoid future disputes. No nation fears to publish legitimate concessions and if a nation hesitates to publish such, it is a sure sign that something is wrong with that concession. By publicity, therefore, the whole field respecting China will be cleared and all will know the extent of possible conflicts while future issues will be outlined.

Senator Underwood, in the Senate today, predicted an early settlement of the Shantung question. He made this prediction in the course of a speech in answer to Senator Walsh, of Montana, who offered a resolution asking President Harding for all the facts relative to the progress of the Shantung negotiations. The Alabama senator's statement was corroborated by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts.

"The Shantung negotiations," Senator Underwood said, "are approaching a settlement. Any delegate or any representative of any government represented at the Conference who now tries to throw the Shantung question into a plenary session, and thereby force somebody's hand, will simply be throwing a monkey wrench into the machinery the proper and continued operation of which vitally affects the world's security."

To this statement of his Democratic colleague Senator Lodge added that an insuperable obstacle to an arbitrary settlement of the Shantung question by the Conference was the fact that seven powers had signed the treaty of Versailles, thereby approving the Japanese position with regard to Shantung.

AGENDA NEARS FINISH

(Trans-Pacific News Service Exclusive To The China Press)

Washington, Jan. 22.—The China Agenda is near completion, the only loose ends left being the Chinese Eastern Railway, electric communications and other minor matters. It is declared in official quarters, however, that the 21-Demands are certain to be raised and will be discussed after the Shantung settlement is made. This means that the future of Manchuria is to be considered by the Conference.

It is expected that the complete report on the Chinese Eastern and communications matters will be presented tomorrow. The resolution on publishing all agreements has passed with minor changes. The passage of a resolution urging China to reduce her army now centers discussion on the internal condition of China. While admitting that nothing much can be done for China here unless China helps herself, it is held that the best thing the Conference can do is to bring the Chinese people to look their own situation squarely in the face.

The Japanese commission to consider the modifications of the laws of warfare will be limited to changes necessitated by developments at Washington regarding the restrictions on the use of submarines and airplanes.

With other Far Eastern questions coming to a close, attention again has veered toward Shantung, and with senators openly expressing their opinion, renewed efforts for a compromise are among the expectations. It is asserted here that the Japanese will refuse compromise settlements, basing this policy on the belief that they can achieve better results by direct negotiations with Peking, looking for compliance on the part of the Peking government.

SHRINE PARTY DUE IN SHANGHAI NEXT MONDAY

The delegation of Shriners coming to the Far East from America to hold ceremonials here and in Manila will reach Shanghai next Monday on the Shipping Board steamer Keystone State.

The pilgrimage is led by Illustrious Potentate Hugh M. Caldwell, of Nile Temple, Seattle, who is also mayor of Seattle, and includes Shriners from many cities in the United States and Canada.

The Keystone State left Seattle January 14, the occasion of her sailing from the Washington port calling forth a brilliant assemblage, including hundreds of Shriners in costume, to wish the Masonic delegation bon voyage. The Keystone State is scheduled to reach Yokohama tomorrow, Kobe on Friday and Shanghai three days later.

Following the stop here the Shrine party goes to Hongkong and then to Manila, where a ceremonial will be held during the Manila Carnival.

The Shrine party making the pilgrimage include: Mayor Hugh M. Caldwell, F. W. Wonn, A. M. Prett, Bert Snyder and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smithson; W. J. Coombe and son; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Osner, Arthur B. Miller; Mr. and Mrs. Don H. Palmer; J. W. Edmunds; Mr. and Mrs. McFarlane; Max Boas—all of Seattle—Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Slack; William Rust; W. F. Stillson; Mr. and Mrs. Buckmaster and three children—all of Tacoma—Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wixon, Sedro-Woolley, Wash. Mr. and Mrs. George Ketcham, Stanwood, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Emil Ganz, Phoenix, Ariz.; Fred W. Ehrhardt Sacramento, Calif.; Frank A. Saxton, New Orleans, La.; P. M. shows that the section requiring reports to be made to the Secretariat-General of the Conference of commitments and contracts etc by China with the nationals of the participating Powers, contains the qualifying clause "as nearly complete as possible," thus meeting the objection of the Japanese delegates.

Another provision invites the governments not represented at the Conference to adhere to the agreement.

E.C.C.E.A. OPENS NINTH ANNUAL MEETING HERE

Preliminary business, a social reception and two interesting and instructive addresses comprised the program for the opening yesterday of the ninth annual meeting of the East China Christian Educational Association at Union Church, the sessions being attended by a large numner of members of the organisation.

A brief introductory address was delivered by the president Dr. Francis J. White, of Shanghai College, following which the report of the Committee on Reorganisation was made by the Rev. E. H. Cressy. The recommendations in connection with the reorganisation for educational work included one for the securing of a permanent secretary, to be elected from among the membership or to be some one familiar with the work in the region.

A nominating committee was appointed to bring forward names of members to be elected to the various offices for the next year. The Committee consists of Dr. Bowen, of Nanking; Dr. McMillan, and Miss Pyle, of McTyeire.

The principal address of the afternoon was given by Professor P. M. Roxby, of the University of Liverpool and a member of the Educational Commission now visiting this country. Prof. Roxby's subject was "A Modern Conception of Geography."

FORMS MEETING POINT

Geography, Prof. Roxby stated in opening, provides the meeting point of the natural sciences, geology, physiology, climatology, etc. with the humanities, economics, history, sociology, etc. It formed a great field of study in connection with preparation for citizenship.

The increased knowledge and accumulation of data resulting from such study, the speaker said, made possible the development of vastly greater generalities. It was now possible to recognise more clearly the different types of social units in relation to environments. He stressed the need of careful scientific study of the relationship of these units to their respective environments and to other units.

Geography, he said in closing, formed the basic field of study for co-operative living, as opposed to competitive living.

The address was followed by a reception for the delegates, held in the Church social hall, and in the evening Prof. Suh Hu, of the National University at Peking, delivered a lecture on "The Development of the Chinese Language."

TODAY'S SESSIONS

The program for today is as follows:

A. M. 9.00-10.00 Department Conferences:

400 Mill Workers Go Out On Strike

Four hundred women employes of the weaving rooms of the Kung Yih Cotton Mill, Robison Road, owned by Ewo Mills, Ltd., went on strike Sunday following a change of the contractors furnishing labor for that department.

The workers refused to go to work Sunday morning and a notification was given the police by the manager of the mill. The workers demanded the return to them of a deposit of two weeks' wages made to the contractor. It was explained to them that the funds were transferred to and held by the new contractor and the women resumed work, but at noon they suddenly dropped their tasks and went home. There was no disorder.

if the progressive elements were to get together and make their collective influence felt for an early solution of this important problem affecting seriously China's international prestige.

"ABOLISH LIKIN"

"Abolish the likin," said Mr Simpson, "and you will have no need to hesitate about the enforcement of the 12½ percent customs duty as provided by the Mackay Treaty for no nation would compromise its reputation by making a direct challenge to so unequivocal a treaty provision. International opinion will be ready to support China when the time comes for her to take action."

Mr. C. C. Nieh said that steps are being taken by the Shanghai Bankers' Association and the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce to seek the support of the banking and mercantile elements in the country in scuring the $30,000,000 needed for the redemption of the Shantung Railways. He believed that if the people were to act energetically the money would be forthcoming.

"Take for example," said Mr. Nieh, "the case of cigarette smoking in China. Every year we are spending on an average the sum of $90,000,000. Here is enough money to buy three Shantung Railways. In order to ensure the success of the campaign for raising the funds needed, it will be a task beyond the efforts of the bankers and the merchants. The people as a whole must work together. We want teamwork and I believe we shall get it."

MOVE IS STARTED FOR BUYING BACK SHANTUNG LINE

Active steps toward the raising of public subscriptions for the redemption of the Kiaochow-Tsinanfu railway from Japanese ownership have been started by local commercial and banking institutions.

During the week-end telegrams were drafted by the Shanghai General Chamber of Commerce and the Shanghai Chinese Bankers' Association, calling upon chambers of commerce and the Union of Chinese Banks throughout the country to support the scheme of raising the necessary $30,000,000 for buying back the road, and, according to the Chinese press a reply has been received by the bankers' union endorsing the idea.

The scheme outlined provides for the sale of bonds at $5 each and it is proposed that the money received be deposited with any bank which the people may nominate. Mr. Sung Han-chang, of the Shanghai branch of the Bank of China, is suggested as the most suitable person to handle funds which might be collected here.

Mixed Court Whimsies

Loh Han-dzau, coolie employed in the upper apartments at 9 Albany Gardens, stood in the dock at the Mixed Court yesterday accused of stealing a chicken from Yau Ching-dong, who resides on the ground floor at that address.

"I didn't steal the chicken," said Loh. "I was just picking a few feathers off it when the complainant came along and misunderstood me."

The indiscretion gives Loh three days' immunity from the ante-New Year epidemic of shrofts.

According to Doong Ah-khah his pocket was most artistically and thoroughly picked by Sz Liang-pu while both were strolling on the Bund Sunday evening, the operation transferring a wallet enclosing $20 from the possession of the former to that of the latter.

According to Sz Liang-pu, the foregoing was a complete falsification of the facts. He admitted being taken in possession of the purse, and likewise that the purse might possibly belong to Doong. But he maintained that he had picked it up from the sidewalk.

"I placed it in my pocket," he concluded, "because I am a stranger and unacquainted with local customs."

Whereupon the Court arranged for him to remain with us two months and get truly acclimated.

cians taking advantage of this opportunity to disturb the political situation further."

In connection with the above it is stated that Hsiung Hsi-ling, the leader of the Yenchiuhai faction, is taking advantage of General Wu Pei-fu's movement for overthrowing the Liang's Cabinet, by starting activities with the object of forming a succeeding Cabinet for himself by coming to terms with General Wu Pei-fu through the good offices of General Tang Hsiaming, former Tuchun of Hunan.

CABINET GETS CHANCE

Hankow, Jan. 22.—Advices from Wuchang state that Tuchun Hsiao Yao-nan received a telegram today in the joint names of Marshal Tsao Kun and General Wu Pei-fu, the substance of which is as follows:

"As a result of the Paotingfu conference of representatives of all provinces held Saturday, it has been decided to retain the Liang Cabinet unconditionally for a period of one month. During this time the Cabinet must solve the question of the redemption of the Shantung Railway and other problems relating to the Shantung issue to the advantage of China. In case the Cabinet fails to do this, then decisive steps will be taken towards the Cabinet."

OUST THEM, SAY TUCHUNS

Peking, Jan. 21.—The substance of the circular telegram recently issued in the joint names of General Wu Pei-fu and Tuchuns of six provinces against the Liang Cabinet is, in short, that they are determined to sever the relations with the present Cabinet unless Mr. Liang Shih-yi and Mr. Yeh Kung-cho be dismissed without delay, though they will support the President.

In consequence, Premier Liang had an interview with the President this afternoon, when the former is reported to have requested the latter to select a suitable successor as soon as possible. It is also reported in reliable Chinese quarters that Mr. Liang is already making preparations to transfer the Premiership.

Rumor circulated freely in Government circles this morning that, prior to his resignation, Premier Liang Shih-yi will apply to the President for a leave of absence in a day or two and will recommend either one of the cabinet ministers or Dr. W. W. Yen, Minister for Foreign Affairs, as Acting Premier.

TO WATCH AND WAIT

Canton, Jan. 22.—According to a local news agency, Premier Liang has sent a delegate to Mr. Tang Shao-yi, proposing conditions for the reopening of the peace conference and requesting Mr. Tang to attend the conference in person.

Though Mr. Tang has had it in mind to ask Dr. Sun Yat-sen and Hsu Shih-chang to meet together in Shanghai, it is reported, for direct negotiations between the North and South, the news agency states that Mr. Tang has decided to hold to a wait-and-see attitude owing to the strong opposition born by General Wu Pei-fu and the Tuchuns of the Yangtsze Valley against the Peking Government.

Premier Liang's delegate is now in Hongkong devising ways and means to bring about an understanding with the Canton Government, acting in co-operation with the Communications clique, but the Mingtung Party leaders assert that they will never sanction such a movement.

He has obtained the rights of a number of particularly successful offerings that have been drawing crowded houses in London. The company numbers nine and it says much for the versality of its members that each of the varied productions are excellently well rendered according to advance press notices. EVERLASTING AS THE HIMALAYAS

10 to 1 Against You

LESS than one man in ten succeeds in accumulating a reasonable competence that will support his later years, or his family in case of his death, or both. Also, through reverses, a majority of this limited number lose it by the time the age of fifty is reached.

THESE are hard, cold facts to face. 10 to 1 are heavy odds. The only SURE provision against them is life insurance. One of the many forms of policies issued by this Company will fit your particular requirements. We will be glad to consult with you.

Simpson Tells Of Lost Opportunity Of Chinese

(Reuter Pacific Service)

Shanghai, Jan. 23.—Reuter's Agency has received from Mr. B. Lenox Simpson, Adviser to the Chinese Government, who arrived on Saturday night from Washington via Vancouver, the following statement regarding the Washington Conference (to the end of December), detailing the part played by China:

"The conditions at the beginning of November were by no means favorable for China, and only brilliant work could have neutralised numerous embarrassing factors and at once put China in a strong position. Propaganda filled the American pres, declaring that the establishment of strong government in China—by force if necessary—was one of the chief problems before the Conference.

"The great prominence given to the alleged default on the continental and Commercial national Bank loan allowed Consortium protagonists to insist that China's financial condition was hopeless, while the Canton Government having confided its interests to a trained journalist, with wit and imagination, plastered the country with South China propaganda. One piece of work by this agent, Ms. Soo, was in the highest degree ingenious. Every Chinese laundry throughout the United States suddenly printed on its washing-lists Canton's Fourteen Points and demanded a repudiation of Peking. Countless American homes thus received day by day, in a form that could not escape notice, a strong argument regarding China's lack of unity which undoubtedly had effect in unsetting the public mind.

ANXIOUS TO AID

"Yet in spite of all this surface agitation and confusion deep down in American hearts was an immense latent impulse to help China in some concrete way, and to allow nothing to stand in the way of gratifying that impulse once a clear and simple method was indicated. The failure to understand this and to adopt a strategy which would have pinned the American Government to the impulse of its people, and thereby force all the Governments of the world into line, is the only grave indictment which can be brought against China's official representation.

"Meanwhile, although the preliminary press discussion had been vigorous and painful to the Chinese Delegation, it had at least resulted in a complete discrediting of one hoary argument in international gatherings, the overspill theory, which declares that emigration to the Asiatic mainland is so necessary to Japan that it alone confers a mandate which all nations must endorse.

"Facts and figures were so generally published throughout America proving the contrary that Japanese spokesmen publicly admitted them to be correct, and declared that Japanese emigration to Oriental countries was a fallacy and that economic necessity was the only defence of their policy since the Russo-Japanese War. Similarly, when the discussion later turned on the question of defining the geographical limits of China and whether Manchuria and Mongolia were comprised within that expression, or whether it meant that portion of territory bounded by the Great Wall, Japan accepted the Chinese contention and declared that China meant all Chinese territory as existing when the Republic was established and recognised by the Powers.

HUGHES GAVE OPPORTUNITY

"The initial effect of the great Hughes speech of November 12 on the scrapping of capital ships was so stunning that no matter what the preliminaries had been, conditions became highly favorable for a quick follow-up on the essential matter of the Far East. The American silence of succeeding days not only puzzled all friends and Allies but allowed opponents and critics to recover and prepare new ground. Some indeed saw in that silence a new strategy which would allow logic to win.

"But the more sophisticated, as the days wore on and were wasted in Committee organisation, believed, and believed correctly, that the silence was the silence of a delegation that had said its say and had nothing to add. This belief proved correct. Late in the night of November 15, the Chinese Delegation received a brief notification from the State Department to the effect that they were required to present China's case the next morning at 10:30 o'clock.

"By working almost until dawn a general statement was compiled. But unfortunately it defined China's position in language so mystifying to the general public and so consolatory to bureaucracy (as only general principles were involved) that there was an almost audible sigh of relief from delegations, which had greatly feared that China at one blow would mobilise the immense force of American opinion and sweep the field. What America opinion was looking for, and prepared ardently to support, was a prompt statement of what China must have in order to live. Instead, they were treated to a general diagnosis of the historical causes that had harmed her internationally.

CASE LOST AT OUTSET

"The Chinese case, as the Chinese people understand it, was lost on the morning of November 16, five days after the Conference had opened. Instead of the ten principles laid down in the official memorandum forming a new and convincing decalogue for the nations of the Conference, which they would gladly accept, sharp and unflattering comment was widely heard, coupled with the ever-recurring British press criticism that the composition was evidently the work of American counsel, as Article Seven, which was described as 'a well-established principle of legal construction,' was one admitted by American but not by English law.

"Secretary Hughes's defence of his course of action was that the United States had nothing to give up in the Far East resembling her naval surrender, and that therefore she could not take the lead in this matter. This argument was held to show ingenuousness. If she had nothing to give up and no policy to define, then ever since the enunciation of the Hay Doctrine of the Open Door she has placed herself in a false position which sooner or later must expose her to dangers no matter what her present naval and strategic compromises may be.

"The defence of the Chinese official delegation, that they had followed the official agenda paper, was hardly more reassuring to the numerous unofficial Chinese delegates. Railways, for instance, were distinctly and definitely placed on the agenda for the purpose of evoking from the Conference a clear and unavoidable definition of what degree of ownership and control the so-called administrative independence of China predicates. There was not one word spoken or written during the Conference to the end of December on the subject of Chinese railways, although they must be the most vital element in the new Chinese State.

BIG LACK WAS LEADER

"Leadership was what the Chinese delegation needed. But the non-arrival of the official chief of the delegation was a source of embarrassment. Following this denouement significant articles began to appear in the American press. The 'Wilsonisation' of Hughes began to appear in headlines, writers declaring that Secretary Hughes was going through the same process as Woodrow Wilson at Paris and that European diplomacy was playing Delilah to his Samson.

"On November 21, spurred by the the public demand for more light on what was going on in Committee, the four Root Resolutions regarding the principles to be observed in the investigation regarding China were made public, having been approved by the Eight Powers (other than China) represented at the Conference, namely, the United States, Belgium, the British Empire, France, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands and Portugal. There was no greater irony recorded than this; for that these resolutions were a reply to and a rebuttal of, China's memorandum was generally accepted. Moreover they implied, as clearly as could be done, an indefinite extension of the status quo in China—the very thing the Conference had been summoned to remedy.

"The discontent of the many Chinese unofficial representatives in Washington was now rapidly mounting to fever heat. They saw all their hopes being strangled by red tape and Fabian tactics as well as by a complete misreading of the Chinese internal situation. Hitherto content to maintain a passive attitude, they now adopted vigorous tactics which were largely responsible for a general stiffening in China's representations. On November 23 the immediate application of the 12½ percent Mackay Tariff was brought up, but became buried in a subcommittee presided over by Senator Underprocess, China being allowed not one single statement in the plenary sessions although hours were devoted in these to superfluous speeches regarding the European situation.

"On November 30 the Chinese delegation, pushed on all sides to do so, at last brought up the Shantung question before the Far Eastern Committee. The method of independent conversations, with British and American observers attending, put into operation on December 1 was a necessary corollary of the faulty tactics of November 15 and could not but yield barren results. On December 3 the question of leased territories on being tabled resulted in the absolute refusal of Japan to consider the rendition of the Port Arthur territory and so held up the question of handing back Weihaiwei and Kwangchowan, not to speak of the Kowloon Extension.

"The very next day, Japan, having practically completed her blocking tactics on naval affairs, and destroyed the Hughes initiative, boldly announced in the Far Eastern Committee that the American Government, through the action of the International Banking Consortium in the matter of excluded Manchurian railways, had recognised Japan's vital interests in Manchuria. On December 5 Dr. Philip Tyau, Secretary-General to the Chinese delegation and Minister to Cuba, resigned in disgust from the delegation, and in a remarkable statement gave the public the first inkling of what had been going on behind the scenes. On succeeding days there were numerous other Chinese resignations, causing considerable embarrassment in Washington, which could not be explained away to the public.

RUSH MINOR CONCESSIONS

"Minor concessions such as China's right to purchase wireless installations on her territory, and a wonderful resolution regarding her rights as a neutral (already in existence for generations if international law had been respected), were now rushed through as a sop; while on December 12 Japan finally accepted the principle of the closing of all foreign post-offices in China as from January 1, 1923. The adoption of this resolution marked the only concrete change in the status quo in China registered during the Conference. On December 14, once again yielding to the clamour of unofficial delegates Dr. Wang Chung-hui, who had displayed great independence and courage, brought up the Twenty-One Demands in Committee, only to have Secretary Hughes immediately adjourn the sitting, China's action not even receiving mention in the official communique of the day.

"Other developments had however already turned the international gathering from a professedly Far Eastern and Arms Conference into a European Conference. The reading of the draft of the four Power Treaty in open session on December 10, and its signature on December 13, had definitely disposed of the vexed question of the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, and was really a signal that the original purposes of the Conference, so far as the United States was concerned, had been attained.

"Thereafter the Conference took on a new aspect, dropping internationally to a secondary place. American newspaper editors, faithful to their original announcement that the Conference had only a 30-days news value for the American people, commenced backpaging Conference reports, and public interest perceptibly waned. On December 15 it was announced that after more than a month's maneuvering and delay Japan had accepted the 5-5-3 capital ship standard with the adjustments made necessary by the retention of the post-Jutland ship Mutsu, only to be followed by a far more bitter struggle on the subject of submarines and armed merchantmen. It was at this stage that the American press began to announce that the Conference was a 60 percent success.

DEADLOCK ON SHANTUNG

"On December 20 the Shantung conversations abruptly terminated in a complete deadlock. After seventeen meetings, mainly occupied with subsidiary matters, the one vital matter of the railway, which should have been made the touchstone to test Japanese sincerity at the outset, showed that little or nothing had been yielded, and that other methods would have to be adopted.

"At the end of the year the general concensus of opinion in New York and Washington was that whilst the Conference was at an end, so far as any radical changes in the status quo in China were concerned, the United States Senate would by no means accept the methods and decisions of the Conference leaders and would force, before ratifying Conference agreements, A re-opening in the near future of issues that had been mishandled by being shelved.

"That Chinese diplomacy requires renovation and a greater display of aggressiveness was also the opinion not only of American observers, but of all unofficial Chinese watching the proceedings in the interests of various groups and organisations in China. Submissiveness has never gained victories in any walk in life. The fact that the post-war Conference demands a special technique, in which a highly organised publicity department plays a dominant part was amply proved by the brilliant success Lord Riddell made of his work in Washington as liaison officer with the press and official spokesman. Seeing all correspondents three times daily at fixed hours, he speedily became the source of all information and wood. Extraterritoriality, foreign postoffices, foreign police and foreign garrisons were also successively dealt with by the Committee vastly influenced the source if the Conference.

"China was almost as well equipped as Britain in Washington so far as writers were concerned, many brilliant young Chinese writing admirable English being present. But they were never properly marshalled, nor was there ever any proper liaison with the press or any authoritative views available at fixed hours. Nine-tenths of the technique of the modern conference, both inside and outside the conference rooms, consists in swiftly capitalising the emotions of the hour, so that the pressure of the public opinion exerts its overwhelming sway and dicussion is turned in a favorable direction.

"Modern statesmen take their instructions from newspapers just as much as from legislatures, and if a proper interpretation of China by the world is desired by the Chinese people they must take the lesson of Washington to heart and act accordingly Liberal newspapers in America have already declared that the Conference has apparently left the Chinese no alternative but to cultivate the art of being disagreeable that they will have to make such nuisances of themselves that a world which loves peace and security will finally recognise the justice of their claims.

"But this pessimism is premature. The main and principal concern must be the adoption of a more independent attitude; the execution of national measures, irrespective of opposition, so long as they are just; and the abandonment of a mental timidity which make clean-cut victories impossible because the initiative is always surrendered into the hands of others."

TWO ARRESTED IN SINCERE BOMB EXPLOSION CASE

Two Chinese believed to be the men responsible for the threatening letters and bombs found recently at Sincere's, on which premises there was an explosion last week, were arrested by Detective Inspector Cruickshank, assisted by French police, in the French Concession Sunday night and were charged before Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Kwan at the Mixed Court yesterday. The men, an unemployed Chinese and a fortune teller, were ordered remanded in custody for two weeks pending further investigation.

The arrest followed the finding of still another bomb, of the cigarette tin sort, planted beneath the lantern box of the Sincere roof garden cinema. A slip of paper wrapped about it bore characters reading. "This is a bomb Do not touch it. It will explode."

The two were arrested at 78 Sing Yen Ka and one of the accused was found in possession of another bomb and of threatening letters demanding money. The other, the fortune teller, is said by the police to have admitted writing the letters. The explosion at the Sincere store last week followed receipt of a letter demanding $20,000. The damage extended only to the cracking of a plate glass window.

American School's Team Work Beats Bowside 50-16

Andersen Meyer Forfeits For Third Time; May Quit The League

The Shanghai American School five played basketball last night, the best brand of the game they have staged this season, and they won over the Bowside of the Rowing Club 50-16. The defeated quintet were handicapped some by Smith's absence and by Gattrell's late arrival, but even though the Rowers had their best men playing through the whole game the story would have been the same.

The School's teamwork, a part of their play that has been under some criticism this year, was of excellent order, and the work of their center and forwards, Squires, Parker and Wiens was far above the usual School average. The trio shot 25 baskets. Squires was the particular star. His co-operation in the team work counted heavily, while his individual playing netted 11 baskets for his side.

Andersen Meyer forfeited their third a straight game last night by non-appearance. They were scheduled against the Strokeside. It is rumored that the hong team will drop out of the Foreign League because several of their players cannot find the leisure to participate. It is also said that the Y.M.C.A. five which has played 10 games and lost them all, has decided not to continue.

Basketball gossip further has it that a group of players have already offered to finish out the "Y's" schedule, taking their 10 losses as a starter. It is likely, also, should Andersen Meyer quit, that their schedule will be filled out, either with a new league team or in friendly matches. The Rowing Club, alone, with their long list of players, could fill the two gaps. The matter must go through the executive committee, however, before anything definite may be said.

Games tonight are scheduled between the Bearcats and the Public School on the "Y" floor, and at Shanghai College between the faculty and American Trading Co.

Last night's score follows:

Am'n School 50,		Bowside 16
Wiens	lf	Heinzerling
Parker	rf	Hale
Squires	c	Nash
Waters	lg	Atkinson
Chase	rg	Bell, Gattrell

Goals from floor: Squires 11, Wiens 8, Parker 6, Heinzerling 2, Hale 2, Nash 2, Gattrell 1.

Goals from fouls: Hale 1, Gattrell 1.

Referee: Dr. Gray. Scorer: Mr. Woods.

HEAVY CHAMP OF CHINA FLEET RETAINS TITLE

The China fleet of the British Navy triumphed over the Grand Fleet at Hongkong Saturday, Jan. 14, when Private Wilkins, R. M. L. I., heavyweight pugilistic champion of Eastern Waters, forced P. O. Cover of the Titania, holder of the Grand Fleet title to quit in the eleventh round of their bout at Ming Yuen Gardens. The retirement of Cover gave Wilkins two trophies, the heavyweight crown for Hongkong and the belt donated by the Hongkong Exchange Brokers' association.

In the ten-round Catchweight contest Stoker P. O. Morgan, of H.M.S. Hawkins, justified his reputation by knocking out A. B. Bowdidge, of H.M.S. Carlisle, a much heavier man, in the fifth round.

O. B. Russell, 143 pounds of H.M.S. Hawkins defeated A. B. Eardley, H.M.S. Ambrose, 135 pounds. Six rounds. Decision.

A. B. Skelton, 165 pounds, defeated Stoker Pelling, 158 pounds, H. M. S. Titania. Six rounds. Decision.

A. B. Chadwick, 125 pounds, H.M.S. Narazion, defeated A. S. Larter, 131 pounds, H.M.S. Hawkins. Eight rounds. Decision.

P. O. Morgan, 144 pounds, H. M. S. Hawkins, defeated A. B. Bowdidge, 153 pounds, H. M. S. Carlisle. Ten rounds. Knockout. in fifth. (Side bet of $350.)

O. S. Lewenden, 150 pounds, H. M. S. Hawkins, defeated Warder Gardiner, Hongkong, 154 pounds. Six rounds. Knockout in fourth.

RUGBY RESULTS

(Reuter's Service)

London, Jan. 21.—In a Rugby match at Cardiff today Wales beat England by 28 points to 6.

Following continuous rain the ground was waterlogged. Forty thousand spectators were present. The Welsh forwards were greatly superior and controlled the game, giving the English backs very few opportunities to attack. The score at the interval was Wales 17 points, England 3.

Boastful Boxers Bilk The British

London, Dec. 24.—A long step toward an Anglo-American entente will have been taken when sports writers in the States stop referring to every British boxer who goes across the pond as "Battling Jinks, one of the leading welter weights of England."

It pains the boys over here deeply to read over the morning bacon and eggs an extract from an American paper about the mentioned Battling Jinks, "leading British welter weight," having been smeared all over a presumably clean ring by some little East Sider.

"Who's Battling Jinks?" they ask themselves, and reply that they don't know.

Apparently boxers are the same in any climate. When they come over here, as any American can testify, they carry six-inch-square visiting cards plastered with comparatively modest American flags, telephone numbers, cable addresses and the central scream of "Kid Wurple, America's sensational lightweight," with a story of how Benny Leonard has been running from them for months.

Filipino Boxer Outpoints Yank

Manila, P. I., Jan. 21.—Silvio Jaimito, star Filipino boxer, tonight outpointed Frankie Monroe, an American, in their twenty-round bout at the Olympic Stadium here.

SCOTS BEAT ARTILLERY

The Scottish Co., S.V.C. won over the Field Artillery Co., Sunday, in the Shield Competition, by a score of 6-3, on a field badly cut up and soft and wet from the steady rain which fell.

Sailor Tried His Luck With Tendler—And Found Luck Not Good

Sailor Friedman fought some good men before he bounced up against Lew Tendler, the great South-paw from Philadelphia. He had gotten into the press as a "contender." He had fought Benny Leonard among others, and had been matched with Johnny Dundee, only a sore thumb or something caused him to call it off. When Tendler got to him in Madison Square Garden on Dec. 16, the Sailor bounced his person against the floor no less than four times in but one round—the second. He came near going to sweet dreams right there. He bucked up, however, and finished out the 15-round bout, and Tendler got the decision.

"PRICELESS"
is a popular way of describing anything which has proved to be of exceptional value, and may therefore be employed to describe that old and favourite preparation—Beecham's Pills. The ever-increasing army of men and women who have experience of this excellent medicine generally use some such phrase as "priceless" or "Worth a guinea a box" when speaking of Beecham's Pills. This is certainly high praise. But it is well-merited. Beecham's Pills have proved, times out of number, to be a "priceless" preparation in the treatment of digestive ailments. They bring relief; they safeguard the health; they effect remarkable cures. All who suffer in any way from biliousness, sick headache, constipation, impaired appetite, and the resulting loss of energy and want of tone should take

California Outplayed Was Saved Defeat By Punting

Failure Of Western "Wonder Team" Vindicates Eastern Game

(Chung Mei News Agency)

Peking, Jan. 20.—The University of California, representing the pick of American football on the Pacific Coast, and Washington and Jefferson University, which had come on from the East to uphold the honor of that section of the country, battled to a scoreless tie in the annual Tournament of the Roses game played at Pasadena, Cal., on January 2.

The game was played on a wet and muddy field in the presence of 40,000 spectators, with California a strong favorite. Eastern teams that go to California to play football at the Tournament of Roses are always at a disadvantage owing to the long railway journey, the change of climate and the fact that the game comes nearly six weeks after the eastern season has closed.

In addition to this California had been heralded as the premier football machine of the Far West, while Washington and Jefferson, although admittedly a good team, had not been ranked higher than fourth or fifth among the eastern elevens.

As the field was too muddy for spectacular open play, the game resolved itself into a matter of line-plunging and kicking, and the cabled reports state that only the wonderful punting of Nisbet, California's star halfback, saved the day for the Far Westerners.

Otherwise California was, on the whole, outplayed, and eastern football once more was vindicated. There has been much talk in the United States this season of the superiority of Western over Eastern teams and football methods, but the great game of January 2 at Pasadena would seem to indicate that the East is still all there as far as football is concerned, and that the West can claim no superiority yet.

Students Quit School Though Strike Is Over

(Special To The China Press)

Nanchang, Jan. 13.—A situation that practically broke up all the government schools of this city occurred recently when the teachers and principals went on strike because their salaries were two months in arrears.

As soon as the faculties struck most of the students left for home in spite of the fact that the closing day was only a week off. On the second day of the strike a settlement was made and the teachers were paid but there were no students in the schools. The schools were therefore closed for the year.

There is much dissatisfaction among the teachers because of the unwillingness of the government to pay salaries until it is forced to by demonstrations or threats of resignation. Their complaint is that the military governor is interfering with educational affairs and using these funds for military purposes. The new educational commissioner, however, has the confidence of the people who predict that he will be able to solve the problem satisfactorily.

Democrats Oppose Anti-Lynching Bill

(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Jan. 22.—At a caucus of democratic members of the House of Representatives, it was decided to oppose the Dyer anti-lynching bill. Relations were adopted stating that the bill violates the constitution and tends to increase rather than decrease lynching.

Plan Reorganization Of U.S. Departments

(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Jan. 22.—Plans for reorganisation of the various governmental departments have been worked out by a joint congressional committee and laid before President Harding, but will not be published pending their transmission to Congress by the President. It is understood that consolidation of the army and navy departments is proposed, and the creation of a new department of public welfare.

N. ZEALAND TOLD OF CHINA MARTS FORHERPRODUCTS

(Reuter's Service)

Melbourne, Dec. 15, 1921.—The Assistant Chinese Consul for New Zealand, Mr. T. Shoa, recently visited the South Island of that Dominion, and impressed upon local exporters the possibilities which existed of extending trade between China and New Zealand, particularly in the export of wool to the newly-established woollen industries of the Republic. Mr. Shoa also expressed the hope that the Government of New Zealand would soon see its way to relax the restrictions imposed on the entry of aliens. He dwelt especially on the lack of discrimination between the laboring and student classes, declaring that the latter after their studies abroad, usually became very good trade emissaries.

REST FOR MOTHERS.

How many babies wake up just about the mother's bed-time and keep her busy for a good part of the night. The mother may not see anything apparently the matter with the child, but she may depend upon it that when baby is cross and sleepless there is something wrong, and the little one is taking the only means he has of telling it.

Under such circumstances Baby's Own Tablets are just the friend needed. They contain no opiates, but send baby to sleep simply because they remove the cause of his sleeplessness and make him feel well and comfortable. They are recommended for teething troubles, constipation, diarrhoea, colic, fever, indigestion and worms; they promote appetite and regular development.

Constable Found With Mind Blank Thought Auto Victim

The police are at present trying to clear up the mystery surrounding the injury of a Chinese constable who was found lying on a piece of vacant ground near Weihaiwei and Seymour Roads shortly before 9 o'clock Saturday night.

Up to last night the man had been unable to make any statement, his mind seeming to be a blank, but he kept repeating the number of a motor car and it is believed that he was struck by a machine while in the course of his duty. Several riksha coolies corroborate this theory by stating that they saw a car strike a policeman near the spot where the constable was found. The man had his notebook and pencil in hand when discovered. He was taken to Shantung Road Hospital for examination, the doctor finding bruises on the shoulder.

The Riddle Of Manchuria

BY NATHANIEL PEFFER

(Conference correspondent of The China Press, writing in The Nation of Dec. 28.)

So far as Japan and Japan's imperialistic ambitions are concerned and it is they that have forced the Far Eastern problem to world attention and international assembly—the Conference to the present has only been playing about the edges. Only now is it coming to the core. The Twenty-One Demands have been raised already, though postponed for discussion; Manchuria can be postponed but a few more days. And they are the expression in action of Japan's Asiatic ambitions.

Essentially the two are one. The Twenty-One Demands in effect are Manchuria. Of the five groups into which the Twenty-One Demands are divided one was dropped and the other is non-controversial and comparatively unimportant. Another gave the Japanese joint control of China's principal steel works and a monopoly of half its output; but the Japanese were fast getting joint control anyway by financial means and the Chinese have laid comparatively little emphasis on this provision. Another group covered Shantung, which is being dealt with separately in the Conference and gives promise of settlement. The remaining group deals with Manchuria.

By conquering Russia, Japan succeeded to Russia's rights in Manchuria, which can be summed up for important purposes as the ports of Dairen and Port Arthur, the South Manchuria Railway, and a group of valuable coal mines. The Russo-Chinese agreement provided that Russia's lease of the two ports expire in 1923 and the lease of the railway in 1937. By the Twenty-One Demands Japan compelled China, by threat of military force, to extend both leases to ninety-nine years and also to recognise Japan's "special position" in South Manchuria and Eastern Inner Mongolia. The abrogation of the Twenty-One Demands therefor means that Japan gives up Dairen and Port Arthur in 1923.

That is to say that the Twenty-One Demands will not be abrogated. Only under one condition will Japan clear out of the South Manchurian ports in 1923: if it is blown out by dreadnoughts. I have met numerous Japanese of liberal opinions who have deplored the Twenty-One Demands, deplored Japan conduct in South Manchuria, deplored Japan's interference in China's internal affairs; I have never met one who believed in restitution of Manchuria to China.

In one sense I sympathise with Japan's position. I have already indicated in this correspondence that so long as the other Powers cling to their spoils in China, so long as Britain refuses to give up the little leasehold of Kowloon of minor importance to the British, it is only hypocrisy to ask the Japanese to give up Manchuria, of so vital an importance to them. Until the other Powers clear out of China, we cannot in decency ask the Japanese to clear out. And the other Powers do not intend to clear out. I do not want to falsify the issue, however. Not that consideration motivates Japan in its refusal. If all the other Powers gave up the territory they hold in China tomorrow, Japan would not clear out. First, because, as they tell you, "we spilled our blood and spent our treasure to get Manchuria." Second, because they want Manchurian resources for their private and exclusive exploitation. Actually and principally, because no Power bent on imperialism ever gives up anything.

What shall we do? What specifically should be Mr. Hughes's policy? A heavy responsibility rests on Mr. Hughes. After the Twenty-one Demands were accepted by China it was Mr. Hughes's department that declared publicly that America would not be bound by any provision of those demands contravening America's rights under the Open Door. And very emphatically Japan's occupation of Manchuria does contravene those rights. It has shut the Open Door with a bang.

Well, we shall not fight for Manchuria, that is certain. But on the other hand, we need not give recognition to Japan's occupation; we can at least leave to China the legal right to a challenge in the future. In the meantime we must seek a basis for compromise. So far as America is concerned, our objection is not so much to the fact of Japan's occupation as to the manner of its occupation. We admit Japan's dependence on Manchurian raw materials for its own industrial development. We need not concede it any more than a free right to purchase those raw materials in an open competitive market where it has all the advantages of propinquity. And whatever economic preferred position we need concede as a matter of existing fact, we need not and must not concede any political preferred position to Japan. We can insist first that Japan state its position in Manchuria; we can insist on a precise, public definition of its rights under that position. Then we can insist on an examination of those rights in the light of the principle of the Open Door and equality of opportunity for all nations, a principle to which Japan has given public adherence. Following from that, we can insist on a drastic modification of Japan's methods in Manchuria, or such of them as are in contravention of that principle; the methods that have driven out of Manchuria all traders not Japanese.

What are those methods? Deliberate holding up of cargoes not Japanese at ports of entry and along the railway; discrimination in railway rates and railway service against goods not Japanese; refusal of other communication facilities; preferences in taxation to Japanese over Chinese; intimidation of Chinese competitors and Chinese officials, compelling them to act destructive of the rights of other nationals; abuse of the power of Japanese troops and police; political interference; instigation of outlawry by providing Chinese bandits with arms, thus making pretexts for further political penetration. The abandonment of all these we must ask, and the abandonment of all these Japan can grant without prejudicing any of its vital interests. There is but one alternative. That is to take the position that if the Japanese refuse to open the subject of the Twenty-one Demands, as they have already said they would, we shall refuse to discuss Manchuria at all; that we shall maintain our former position that we do not recognise Japan's rights in Manchuria and that we accept its remaining there after 1923 or its monopolistic methods at any time only as a de-facto condition existing illegally and by right of force.

For China there can be no satisfactory solution but restitution of Manchuria. But for ourselves there is a satisfactory solution in a modification of Japan's methods. We cannot bring about that solution here. We can only leave that to Japan's good faith. In that one has little confidence until Japan's rulers change. But that is not a condition peculiar to Japan. He who lays his case on the good faith of any imperialism courts illusion and makes his bed with disappointment.

Bank Surveys Economic Conditions Here As Year Ends

The following survey of economic and financial conditions during December, 1921, has been compiled by the Chinese-American Bank of Commerce, Shanghai branch:

TRADE

The month of December was typical for the entire year 1921, distinctly a period of liquidation. Not much in the way of new business is reported on benalf of China. It would, however, be a consolation to have the assurance that old stocks have gone into consumption and thus made room for new trade.

The effects of the world crisis, as far as they hit China, were much more visible in imports than in exports. Cotton piece goods from abroad had weighed heavily on the market, but the close of the year proved that not only had a very fair portion of old stocks been liquidated, but that inquiry for the remainder was brisk and that there were good prospects for the early realisation of existing stocks. Exports goods, which the world was unable to take from China, were consumed within the country by newly established manufacturing concerns.

The Cotton Industry in China did well during the past year. Oil Mills, however, were hardly able to make ends meet. The flour industry, which started the year excellently, had to abandon activities owing to lamentably short crops of wheat.

In our report for November, mention has been made of the necessity of ceasing work in many of the flour mills all over China. The situation has been accentuated during December. By the middle of the month only four out of Shanghai's twenty-five flour mills have been working, while all the others had to close down owing to lack of wheat. This entails necessarily the dismissal of the mill hands and most of the office staff. Apart from one flour mill, which is owned by the Mitsui Bussan Kaisha, all the others at Shanghai are owned and managed by Chinese.

FLOUR CENTER HERE

Although practically no wheat is grown in the immediate neighborhood of Shanghai, this port, by virtue of its excellent situation, has become the center of the flour industry, and is likely to gain considerably in importance during coming years.

During the nine working months of the year, the Shanghai mills are consuming about 750,000 tons of wheat, and producing daily about 100,000 bags of flour of 50 lbs. weight.

In 1920 there was a large export of flour from Shanghai, namely 16,350,000 bags, while the export for this year up to end of October was only about 4,000,000 bags (of 50 lbs. each). The following are the figures relating to the export of flour from Shanghai during the past four years:

1917	7,700,000 bags
1918	10,250,000 bags
1919	11,500,000 bags
1920	16,350,000 bags
1921	4,000,000 bags*

*(first 9 months).

The bulk of the flour was exported with destination to other Chinese ports.

Looking at things as they stood in December, 1921, there is no doubt that flour milling, on account of the circumstances described, is not lucrative in China, and foreign competition is expected. However, the set-back is certainly of a temporary nature only.

FLOUR FROM U. S.

In one of our previous reports we have mentioned the fact that wheat is beginning to enter Manchuria (the wheat country par excellence) from the Pacific Coast of America. Now we can supplement our statement by adding that American flour has been imported into Manchuria, where it is sold at Yen 3.30 per bag, as compared with Yen 4.00 for the Manchurian product.

During the month of December several "Stock Exchanges" closed their doors or entered into voluntary liquidation, and, probably in consequence thereof, one Native Bank of Shanghai suspended payment.

Cotton, in sympathy with prices abroad, firmed up, and was quoted at the close of the year at Tls. 33.50 per picul for the Tungchow variety. The export of China raw cotton during the past three months amounted to 107,000 piculs only.

Silk continued on the firm side, but nevertheless a fair volume of business was transacted in December.

We shall be reverting to Chinese trade conditions when reviewing her and other countries commerce for the past year.

SILVER AND EXCHANGE

The price of silver in London receded from 37⅝d. on December 1 to 34⅝ on December 31, making the drop 3 pence, while New York quotations fell from 68 cents to 64¾ cents. Tendency was downward when the year closed, though India is likely to come in as sporadic buyer. Official rates dropped from 3s. 10d. to 2s. 5d. in December and from 76½ to 72. Business for near was however done at considerable premiums over these rates.

Shipments of bar silver during December from London to Shanghai were only £105,000, while arrivals during the month here were as follows:

From London	7,718 bars
From America	3,533 bars
From Bombay	1,305 bars
From Hongkong	42 bars
Total 12,598

Shipments of bar silver from Shanghai during the month were:
3,938 to the Mint at Canton.
929 to the Mint at Nanking and Hangchow

4,867 bars

Average Rates of exchange at Shanghai for December were as follows:

G.$	74.37
£	38. 7d.
Frs.	9.58
Yen	64.70
Marks	150

Average official quotations at Shanghai for 1921:

	Last Quarter	Last half year	whole Year
Gold $	75.82	1.05	67.45
Pounds	3-9⅝	3-8-11-16	3-6-3-16
Francs	10.2[illegible]	9.58	9.09
Yen	63.50	67.36	71.31
Marks	150	100	——

SILVER FUTURE DOUBTFUL

Regarding prices of silver it is very difficult to foretell what the future will bring. Undoubtedly India, and to a much more pronounced degree China, is capable to absorb huge quantities of the white metal. But as exports from China are not likely to exceed imports into that country, and as large foreign loans are hardly probable in the near future, it appears improbable that China will influence the silver market in a decisive way.

The production of silver all over the world has decreased in 1921 as compared with 1920. Mexico produced 62,500,000 ounces against 66,000,000 ounces during 1921. U.S.A. as well as Canada have also had a reduced output in 1921, while Australia has apparently continued to produce on a prewar scale. The Continent and Great Britain are sellers of fair quantities of silver (derived from demonetisation) as the year closes.

Up to the end of the year America has purchased 65 million ounces under the provisions of the Pittman act.

It is interesting to note that high and low quotation of silver during 1921, which were:

Highest
43⅝ on 27th September
Lowest
30⅝d on 5th March

CROSS RATES:

There was a steady appreciation of Sterling during December, amounting to 5%. The reason for this improvement is clearly to be seen in the hopes inspired by the disarmament conference in Washington, and by the settlement of the Irish question.

Francs also shared in the improvement, namely from 56.65 in the beginning of December to 52.50 at the end of the month.

Marks were more or less stagnant round 800, waiting for developments.

	during Dec., Highest	Lowest
Gold $—£	423½	405
Francs—£	56.65	51.80
Marks—£	937	732.

REVIEW

The close of the year induces us to review the immediate past from the economic point of view.

China has undoubtedly progressed in 1921, especially in the way of industrial enterprises, for which there is just as much scope here as there is assured success. Like the rest of the world China was seriously affected by the economic crisis which left its traces everywhere, but taken altogether China was hurt in a lesser degree than almost any other country. This is proved by the revenue of the customs, which show record figures for the past year, namely Haikwan Tls. 54,500,000 as against the previous year Haikwan Tls. 47,500,000.

Revenue collected in 1921 in the principal ports was as follows:

Shanghai,	H. Tls.	19,914,000,	increase of Tls.	1,081,000
Tientsin,	,,	6,816,000,	,, ,, ,,	1,321,000
Dairen,	,,	4,959,000,	,, ,, ,,	56,000
Hankow,	,,	3,858,000,	,, ,, ,,	187,000
Canton,	,,	3,118,000,	,, ,, ,,	576,000
Kiaochow,	,,	2,139,000,	,, ,, ,,	531,000
Swatow,	,,	1,381,000,	,, ,, ,,	224,000
Harbin,	,,	1,381,000,	,, ,, ,,	448,000
Antung,	,,	1,002,000,	decrease ,, ,,	68,000

The Chinese people are beginning to realise that the future of their country is closely connected with industries, and it is the manufacturing line that is going to show rapid development in the near future.

POLITICS STUMBLING BLOCK

A serious obstacle to economic progress is the country's political situation, which unfortunately had not improved when the year closed. The inauguration of the new Cabinet, headed by Liang Shih-yi, is unlikely to bring about the unification of North and South.

At the Washington Conference only few tangible results had been obtained until the end of December, though there remains no doubt that China will reap some immediate benefits, while the realisation of other long cherished hopes will probably take some time.

Concerning new funded loans there is little to record for 1921, but some of the older internal loans have been consolidated and put on a much more secure basis. The funding of the internal loans was a step in the right direction and if the new provisions are carried out, the internal loan service will give to the investing public the much needed confidence.

The crisis to which the two Government Banks were subjected in November has been easily overcome, and free redemption of Bank Notes issued is again assured. Speaking generally there was further progress made in the way of Chinese Banking during the past year. Quite a number of new Banks were added to those already operating under Chinese law, and the body of Chinese Bankers is rapidly becoming a factor of enormous importance and beneficial influence to the country.

HIGH INTEREST GIVEN

One point in connection with native banking customs calls for comment, namely the excessively high rates of interest given and taken, which is certainly an obstacle to the rapid development of commerce.

U. S. of America: While many industries had to undergo critical periods and although farming has required Government aid in 1921, this year can be considered excellent, in spite of the fact that the net favorable trade balance was somewhat below that of 1920.

In our report for the month of October we have given the balance of trade with foreign countries as G.$146,000,000 in favor of U. S. A. The last quarter was not very favorable to trade, but has undoubtedly added to the above balance.

has reached $660 millions and the net export of silver $11,700,000.00.

America's trade with China shows a considerable decline for the month of November, totalling G.$5,000,000 for imports from China and G.7,500,000 for exports to China against G.9,000,000 and G.$8,800,000 respectively for the previous month.

GERMANY'S IMPORTANCE

Germany plays a very important role at this moment, and is the key to the much desired rehabilitation of the world's trade. It is therefore interesting to review the inner causes of Germany's critical financial conditions. The relation of the Mark to the £, at it stood at the end of December (about 800) cannot last. It is not difficult to forecast that we shall witness before long a radical movement in rates, either downward or strongly upward. The direction will be influenced by the decisions arrived at in Cannes or Genoa where financial conferences are to take place in January.

The question that is so difficult to answer is: how long will Germany be able to make the stipulated reparation payments?

In order to procure the gold for the first 1,000 millions Germany had to sell paper Marks abroad, thus causing a serious depreciation to her own currency. Further payments in gold and the separation of Upper Silesia from the country added to the devaluation of German currency, until in November 1921 the Sterling became equivalent to 1,200 Marks.

The principle cause for the serious decline in Germany's currency is her unfavorable trade balance, which cannot possibly right itself, as long as the country is forced to export abroad (reparations in kind) without obtaining countervalue.

Germany's obligations in the way of reparation payments only are as follows:

(1) 2,000 millions of Marks in gold annually payable in four quarterly installments.

(2) 26 percent from the value of the country's exports, estimated to yield 1,600 millions Marks.

(3) Cost of the troops of occupation, about 1,600 millions of Marks in gold.

This means 5,200 millions of Marks in gold each year.

The more Germany exports, the more she is obliged to pay in the way of reparations. It seems to have been proved by facts that Germany cannot pay such collossal sums either by exports or by taxation, and the printing of banknotes only aggravates an already precarious position. The note circulation at the end of December amounted to 110 milliards of Marks.

NEXT PAYMENT DOUBTFUL

The total obligation of Germany in the way of indemnity is 132 milliards of gold Marks, against which, up to the end of 1921, payment in cash and in kind was rendered to the extent of nearly 6 milliards. It is more than doubtful whether Germany will be able to meet the next reparation payment of 500 millions, due on January 15, 1922.

We have stated before that the trade balance is the principal factor for influencing the value of any country's currency. But the trade balance is not the only factor. The last point is the purchasing power of a country's currency. And this has been fairly good as far as Germany is concerned. In other words, while many other countries are gradually returning to a normal gold basis of prices, the reverse has been the case with Germany. The result is that Germany is enjoying great industrial activity, in spite of her unsurmountable difficulties already described, while her creditors are laboring under serious industrial depressions.

WAR STILL AFFECTS

France: Public finance in France is still war finance, as the Government carries the burdens accumulated during the war, the interest on very large war loans raised at home and abroad, the expense of reconstruction of the devastated regions and the expense of a huge standing army. In course of the first half year of 1921 the French Public debt rose from 245,000,000,000 Francs to 264,000,000,000 Francs.

On October 20 the Government owed to the Banque de France 25,300,000,000 Francs, and on the same date the latter's circulation amounted to 37,407,000,000 Francs.

In view of the difficulties attending the repayment of the public debt, several authorities are in favor of stabilising the Franc at about its present quotation, while the Government is endeavoring of reverting to a prewar basis as quickly as possible.

The French budget estimates for 1922 amount to:

Expenditure 24,932,000,000 Francs.
Income 22,451,000,000 Francs.

During 1921 industrial activity has not come up to expectations, but there are signs of an all round improvement during the coming year.

Great Britain: Considering the financial side in direct connection with the war we find that England has a claim on German reparations to the extent of 22 percent (against France's share of 52 percent and Belgium's of 8 percent) on the total of 132 milliards of gold Marks, i.e. £1,500,000,000, and a claim on her allies and dominions £1,800,000,000, against a debt to America of £1,000,000,000.

During 1921 Great Britain's domestic finances were not in as favorable a condition than in the previous year. The first half of her financial year (ending Sept. 30) showed revenue receipts of £456,000,000, which corresponds to only 44 percent of the original estimate of expenditures. This shortage has necessitated a further increase in the floating debt.

BRITISH INDUSTRY CUT

Production in the principle industries continues to be considerably curtailed, notably as regards cotton spinning and ship building.

The Board of Trade returns show that during last year (1921)

Imports amounted to £1,086,000,000, as compared with 1920 £1,932,000,000.

Exports totaled in 1921 £703,000,000, as compared with 1920 £1,334,000,000.

Japan: Reviewing the trade of Japan during 1921 we find that conditions and results were unsatisfactory. The figures relating to the month of December are:

Imports: Yen 104,662,000 against December 1920 Yen 160,155,000.

Exports: Yen 87,424,000 against December 1920 Yen 145,514,000.

out of which

Imports from China Yen 14,810,000 against December 1920 Yen 13,533,000.

Exports to China: Yen 21,761,000 against December 1920 Yen 19,022,000.

The total trade of Japan in 1921 was in round figures:

Exports: Yen 1,252,000,000 against 1920 Yen 1,948,000,000.

Imports: Yen 1,613,000,000 against 1920 Yen 2,335,000,000.

Consequently there was an adverse trade balance of Yen 356,000,000.

EXPORTS DECREASED

Compared with 1920 there was a decrease in exports of about 37 percent and a falling off in imports of 72 percent. However, in comparison with prewar conditions, the total value of trade has increased over 100 percent.

It was especially manufactured goods which suffered largely partly because other countries were better fitted to supply the world's needs and partly on account of the general trade stagnation. The value of foodstuff as well as that of raw materials exported in 1921 was roughly only 60 percent of the 1920 level, of half-manufactured articles 70 percent and of manufactured goods a little over 50 percent.

Analysing the decline according to the class of goods we find that the value of cotton cloth fell off by Yen 123,400,000, while silk piece goods decreased by 72,000,000 Yen and cotton yarn also 72,000,000 Yen. The decline in raw silk is Yen 25,200.00 and the decrease in cotton hosiery Yen 23,000,000.

Looking at imports we find declines in value on the following goods, as compared with 1920:

Raw Cotton	Yen	300,000,000 less
Beans	„	26,000,000 „
Salpeter	„	21,000,000 „
Oil cakes	„	60,000,000 „
Wool	„	90,000,000 „
Pig iron	„	34,000,000 „
Iron and steel bars and plates	„	81,000,000 „

The prospects for 1922 were not brilliant when the old year closed and will much depend on China and Siberia's ability to trade with Japan.
